The Hutson School is a comprehensive day school dedicated to educating and equipping students with language learning differences to become competent and confident lifelong learners.

Annual Giving Update:

As of January 21, 2011, Hutson has received $75,000 for annual giving. Our goal is to raise $150,000.00 !

We have received 100% participation from our parents, teachers and board members. Thank you so much. Now our job is to reach out to friends, aunts, uncles, dentists, doctors, psychologists, and others who might also be able to help us reach our goal. It surely takes a village!

Tips for ADHD at home! From ADDitude.com

Acknowledge your child's need to move. Allow her to take a quick break from the dinner table to get rid of surplus energy - and to rejoin the family when she's able. Use the same strategy at sporting events, religious services, and other settings that require kids to sit still for extended periods.

Encourage physical activity before school. Have your child take the dog for an early morning run or ride her bike to school. Inclement weather? Jumping rope or bouncing a ball provides a great energy release.

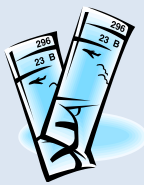

Get a rocking chair -- the rhythm can be calming. Place it in a quiet spot where your child can sit to read. If he's a serious squirmer, try Disc 'O' Sit, an inflatable 12-inch cushion that lets a child wiggle while sitting at a desk or table ($21, abilitations.com)
